

Personal Data Protection Notice for the NEA Nuclear Risk Communication Training Course (RCTC)

The OECD is committed to protecting the personal data it processes, in accordance with its Personal Data Protection Rules.

For the purposes of the RCTC, the OECD Nuclear Energy Agency is collecting personal data from all applicants, including: name, email address, date of birth, gender, nationality, native language, country of residence, institution, job title and curriculum vitae. The data is used to select and contact the participants, as well as to conduct RCTC-related analysis, i.e. regarding the time zones of the participants and the countries represented, and regarding the level of experience and knowledge of the applicants as well as their professional background, in order to select participants and optimise the learning modules. Additionally, topics of interest relating to radiological protection might be collected from admitted participants to adapt the RCTC curriculum to the participants' interests.

The personal data we collect will only be stored and retained until December 2025, with the exception of names and email addresses of those who participated in the school. Names and email addresses of the participants will be retained for the purpose of creating an alumni network and conducting future surveys on i) the participants experience of RCTC, and on ii) the impact of the RCTC on the participants' careers. As an RCTC participant, if you wish to not be part of the network and surveys, please send message to rctc@oecd-nea.org. Only NEA staff have access to your data.
